

SUTLER

ONCE A RESPECTED NOBLE, Sutler's family has fallen on hard times. Recent turmoil in the affairs of the well-to-do have brought them low. A fall from grace, if you like. A momentary pitfall. Their house fell off the tallest cliff in Saltport and landed in a flooded pit where the Unknown changed them into fish-people, you might say.

To save his beggled family, poor, nervous Sutler became a Delver. He's saving up enough lunar dust to buy a big crane and lift his family manor back to its rightful place overlooking the city. Or at least out of the mud.
